Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by mikaela07 - 2012/03/23 12:19

Hey all,

Phoenix and Sierra Vista aren't exactly close, but if any of you find your way down here or if any of the Tucson members want to get together for a cruise/dinner/anything, please feel free to hit me up. There are a bunch of Kappas in SV but I think I may be the only one who is interested in cruising. Left a note on somebody's Redline the other day but haven't heard anything back as of yet.

If I can get the information early enough, I may be able to make some of the Phoenix events once in a while.

Thanks!
John

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by mscott - 2012/03/24 09:59

John,

I'm looking at building a drive to the Biosphere 2 which is just north of Tucson. My goal was to involve the Tuscon chapter and meet in the middle. I's 121 miles each way from Phoenix which means I can make it with out having to stop for gas more than once in the race car...LOL!

Martin

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by spgoat - 2012/03/25 10:09

When? I was thinking of going to the Northwes Regional in WA in July.

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by mikaela07 - 2012/03/27 10:23

I would definitely be interested. I could just drive up to Tucson and meet up with them and then drive with them to the Biosphere2.

John

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by cdflint - 2012/03/28 16:38

There is a good steak restaurant in the town of Oracle nearby the Biosphere. Let me know...

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by Penta - 2012/03/29 08:44

I am definitely interested if I am in town

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by RoadRaceAce - 2012/04/09 08:02

I am up for taking the sol on a drive. Let me know.

==========

Re:Getting tired of riding solo...
Posted by mscott - 2012/04/14 13:52

This Event has been posted, it's under the "Southern Fun Run"

Thank you to John for getting me the info needed to pull this together...

MS

==========